GERMANS HAVE BEEN DRIVEN OUT OF BAILLEUL

British Reported Entering Important Hun Stronghold

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FDANCE, Aug. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—4 p. m.—It is reported that Bailleul on the northern side of the Lys salient has been evacuated by the Germans and tnat the British are either entering the town or may soon occupy it

Longatte and Ecoust-St Mein, southwest of Bellecourt are reparted to have been captured today by the British. All the country south and west of the river now is free of the enemy.

British Smash Thru.

The fighting British armies again smashed their way forward today all along the line. There has been very heavy fighting almost everywhere between the Sommee and Scarpe rivers and under teh force of repeated blows, delivered with machine-like precision the foe has been forced to abandon many more town positions and large strips of ground.

Once more the Germans have suffered terrible losses. The British have freed all the country south and west of the Somme the last Germans being driven behind the river this morning. Even there the enemy is not finding rest for the British have crossed the stream at least at one place south of LaChapellettte.

From Peronne southward first the British cannon and then the French guns are hurling projectiles, big and little on the other side of the river. Just north of the Sommee after it turns to the west at Peronne the British have captured Clery and are pressing on toward Peronne.

Germans Try Hard to Hold

The Germans have been trying every since the fall of Bapaune to hold the line running along the road between that town and Peronne, British patrols, however, actually have reached LeTransloy, directly on the road and it is rtported that LeTransloy has fallen and that a fierce battle within a battle is raging along the whole length of the road and it is reported that on around Beaulencourt which is astride the road between LeTransloy and Bapaume. The Germans hold the major portion of this village for the moment but they seem destined to be thrown out from it. A bitter struggle also is in progress at Morval, southwest of LeTransloy. The fighting appears to have reached a hand-to-character and the Germans are said to have suffered from the British bayonets. Other towns in this neighborhood fell this morning or during last night.

From this locality the line of battle swings wide around Bapaume and there has been more heavy fighting here. Bancourt east of Bapaume, fell after being stormed.

Smother Enemy Resistence

Astride the road to Cambria from Peronne the British crashed into the Germans and smothered their resistance some times again at the point of the bayonet. Fremeni-court seems to have been taken and the British have driven on eastward. North of here Valx-Vracourt which contained a large enemy garrison that offered the strongest resistance with machine guns apparently has fallen in its entirety to the MBritish. Ecoust-St. Mein and Longatte in its suburbs again reported to have been captured by the British.

Here the Germans delivered a powerful counter-attack and the British withdrew in the face of it. The artillery was turned into the trap the Germans had made for themselves and after it had finished the British moved back again and mopped up what remained of the Germans.

Bullecourt is well in British hands as apparently also is Mendicourt. Renicourt and Cagnicourt seem to be in the possession of Marshal Haig's men. Heavy fighting is reported in this locality as here the British have reached a point only a few hundred yards from the Drocourt-Queant switch line which apparently is garrisoned with every man the German high command has been able to lay hands on. They are waiting for what they expect may come in their five lines of trenches, which are protected by many belts of barbed wire. But even as they wait they are being harrassed by heavy fire from the British cannon which thruout this zone of the battle are thundering away as hard as their gunners can force them.

British Pushing Forward

From here northward across the Arras-Cambrai road and along the river Scarpe the British are pushing forward gaining more ground, straightening their line and drawing generally closer to the Drocourt-Queant defenses of the enemy. Counter attacks have been launched on various parts of the battle front but none of them seems to have gained anything for the enemy. A majority of them have been completely broken up by the hail of bullets from machine guns and rifles before the enemy reached the British positions. In the north there apparently is lively activity at several places. The British are reported to have made considerable advances. A report has just been receivd that Bailleul, southwest of Ypres is being shelled by the enemy. If this is correct it indicates that the Germans have withdrawn altogether from that important town and that the British either are entering Bailleul or will do so later.

It is time something was said of the wonderful work in the Scarpe-Somme battle of the British artillery which made possible the victories gained. The Germans themselves testify to the terrible efficiency of the massed British cannon which in many cases stood virtually wheel to wheel while pouring death and destruction into the enemy, knocking the will to fight out of him and blasting a path for the infantry.

The prisoners all mention the terrible barrages as they have withstood and comment bitterly upon the thinness of their own counter barrages.

Casualties eHavy

The casualties inflicted by the British shells have been larger perhaps than ever before because the gunners advancing closely behind the infantry have had many opportunities on this terrain which alternately is slightly rolling to flat, to pay on their weapons with open sights and pour a rapid fire of steel into the Boches. The artillery has materially helped to increase the number of prisoners by throwing completely out of gear all the enemy rationing arrangements. The emptier a German stomach the more docile is its owner. Still more has the artillery has helped to catch prisoners by dropping barrages behind large groups cutting off their retreat. And all this fire has had its effect in even more ways.

Prisoners, who had recently been in Peronne said they saw a great many men there whose nerves had been completely shattered. Peronne at the time was being bombed from the air almost constantly. One airplane after another was flying over in rapid succession literally raining bombs on the Germans and inflicting heavy casualties besides causing much material damage.

AMERICANS SPEND BUSY DAY NEAR SOISSONS

Send Thousands of Rounds of High Explosive Shells and Shrapnel Into the German Lines—Make Little Effort to Advance.

With The American Army In France, Aug. 30.—8 p. m.—(By The Associated Press.)—While the French troops on the right and left of the Americans on the front north of Soissons struggled forward, the Americans sent thousands of rounds of high explosive shells and shrapnel into the German lines They made little effort to advance their line.

Late this afternoon some progress was made by the Americans in the region of Juvigny. Altho the day was not marked by any spectacular advance, there was far from a lull in the activities on the American front.

Since the Americans appeared on Wednesday the Germans have displayed stubberness and skill. They have good positions and are defending them in a manner which would suggest that they might even attempt a serious counter-attack. The positions of the Americans are perhaps not so good and the contest seems to have narrowed down to one of comparative merits of officers and men of the two organizations

Before the day was over the Germans had begun to show signs of weakening and observers reported troop movements which appeared to indicate a regrouping and perhaps retirement.

The orders to the Americans were to maintain a harassing fire thruout the day and even the minor attack of one flank was decided upon only after the advance made by the French indicated its advisability.

Lines Are Improved.

With The American Forces On The Vesle, Aug. 30—(By The Associated Press.)—In spite of the determination of the Germans to break down the movement of the Americans the lines of the later in the neighborhood of Juvigny are slightly improved.

U. S. PLANES IN FRANCE DOING GOOD WORK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. — American airplanes in France official despatches today report made 964 flights during the first two weeks of August, engaged in 94 combats and brought down at least twenty hostile fliers, one captive balloons and probably two other enemy airplanes not officially accounted for. The American bombing planes attacked Conflans, Longuyon and Damourie in daylight, dropping 5,300 kilograms of projectiles.

The French fliers during the same time made nearly fourteen thousand flights engaed in nearly seven hundred combats, took ten thousand photographs of enemy positions and dropped 310 kilograms of projectiles.

The French the despatches says brought down five enemies within the allied lines, 37 German machines were seen to fall within their own lines and 93 others, if not destroyed were badly damaged.

COMPLETE TASK OF FRAMING BIG REVENUE BILL

House Committee To Report On Measure Monday

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 30. — Completing its task of framing the eight million dollar war revenue bill, the house ways and means committee today agreed to report the measure to the house Monday. It carries greatly increased income tax beginning with a nominal tax of six per cent on all below $5,000 a year and above the exemption limits.

To reach war profits a flat war profits tax of 80 per cent is levied with an alternative plan of excess profits taxes ranging from 35 to 70 per cent. The maximum surtax on incomes is raised to 65 per cent and the normal tax on all incomes over $4,000 is made 12 per cent.

The bill which will affect either directly or indirectly, every person and business concern in the United States, probably will be taken up in the house for consideration next Thursday with prospects that it can be disposed of within a week or ten days.

Treasury experts have estimated Chairman Kitchin stated, that the bill as finally agreed upon, will produce an annual revenue of between $8,100,000,000 and $8,200,000,000.

The outstanding features of the completed bill are:

It does not impose consumption taxes or a higher tariff, as it was understood that neither would be resorted to unless all other means of raising the $8,000,000,000 should fail.

Rates of existing tax laws in the main are doubled. A distinctly war profits tax as an alternative to the excess profits tax embodied in the present law is levied. The war profits tax is a flat 80 per cent of the net income above a specific exemption of $3,000 and deduction of 10 per cent of invested capital added or withdrawn since the close of the prewar period. The war profits tax is not to exceed 35 per cent in the case of corporations' invested capital, of which for the taxable year is not over $25,000 and 40 per cent maximum for concerns of $50,000 invested capital, in order to protect small business. The war profits or excess profits are to be applied alternatively according to which will produce the most revenue. The excess profits tax is 35 per cent of the net income up to 15 per cent on invested capital, 50 per cent for between 15 and 20 per cent on capital and 70 per cent for net income exceeding 20 per cent on such capital.

For the first time a luxury excise tax ranging from 10 per cent on straight luxuries to 20 per cent on amounts paid for a variety of articles in excess of specified prices is levied.

Corporations only pay the normal tax and stockholders pay the super taxes out of the dividends. Co-operations escape the supertax on 66 2-3 of annual profits, which are retained in the business. Under the normal corporation income tax of 18 per cent in the pending bill with a rebate of 6 per cent for distributing its profits a corporation would pay 6 per cent more normal tax on this 66 2-3 of profits retained in the business.

The bill retains the present income provisions as for payment of the tax at the source, exempts the first $4,000 of annual income of single persons or of married persons not living with their husband or wife and the first $2,000 of the annual income of married persons and embodies none of the provisions of the present income law.

Hitchock who is sixteen years old son of Major Thomas Hitchcock, jumped from a train near Ulm in Wurttemberg and walked 80 miles to the Swiss border near Schaffhausen. The aviator is returning to the United States immediately.

U. S. AVIATORS ACTIVE IN JULY

With the American Army in France, Aug. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The record of an American air unit comprising 75 pilots, shows that during July it shot down 28 enemy airplanes and one balloon. Eighteen other planes are claimed to have been brought down, but these are not confirmed. The American airmen engaged in 144 combats and went on 131 combat patrols.

The unit's best days were July 16, when six enemy machines and one balloon were destroyed, and July 24, when five airplanes were destroyed without an American casualty

War News Summary

News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

There has been no abatement in the strength of the offensive the British, French and American troops are throwing against the German armies from Arras to the region of Soissons. And as yet there is no indication that it is for the purpose of the seemingly demoralized enemy to turn about and face their aggressors or to offer more resistance for the present than thru the activities of strong rear guards.

Not alone have the allied troops all over the battle front from Arras to Soissons gained further important terrain, but to the north the British have advanced their line materially in the famous Lys sector—and apparently without much effort on the part of the foe to restrain them.

Of greater significance than any of the other victories achieved in Friday's fighting is the gain of the French with whom Americans are brigaded in this general sector north of Soissons. The latest French official statement records the capture by the French here of Chavigny, three miles northwest, and Cuffies, a mile and a half north of Soisson, and the entry into the outskirts of Crouy, a short distance to the northeast. These victories, gained only after the hardest kind of fighting, make more secure the allied line running northward and outflanking the Aisne and the Chemin-des-Dames positions. Also bettering this general situation has been the crossing by the French of the Ailette river at Champs.

In the region north of Noyon, the French have made further progress, crossing the Canal du Nord at several places and advancing materially in the direction of the Noyon-Ham railroad dine.

All around Noyon the French have strengthened their positions.

All the territory on the north and west banks of the Somme, where the Bhitish have been operating against the Germans now has been cleared of the enemy, and south of Peronne, on the east bank of the stream, notwithstanding the destruction of the bridges by the Germans.

To the north the British almost everywhere are pressing eastward along the highways, carrying the Germans before them, notwithstanding the desperate resistance that is everywhere being offered by machine gunners and innumerable infantry units.

Combles is now in British hands, and east of Bapaume Field Marshal Haig's men are working along the Bapaume-Cambrai road toward Lebucquire. To the north of this region Bullecourt and Hendecourt, on the old Hindenburg line, both were captured, but the Germans, in a violent counter attack, forced back the British to the western outskirts, where, at last, accounts, occupying an old German trench system, the Germans were being held.

Northeast of Arras, the British now are only a step away from the famous Drocourt-Queant switch line, one of the strongest of the enemy's fortified positions, which is said to be filled with forces who intend to dispute its capture.

Southwest of Ypres, in the Lys salient, the Germans again have begun withdrawing and are being closely followed upon by the British. The British again are holding the important town of Bailleul, in this sector. The withdrawal of the Germans seemingly indicates that it is their purpose to blot out this salient and straighten their line southward from Ypres.

It is a move, however, that is greatly lessening the chance of a drive during the present year toward the channel ports from this section.

There has been a considerable increase in the enemy's artillery activity against the American troops in the Vosges region. Several patrol attacks by the Germans have been stopped by the Americans.

CONGRESS FAILS TO COMPLETE THE MAN POWER BILL

Only the Formality of Signing Measure Remains

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Congress failed again today to complete the manpower bill, extending the selective draft age limits to 18 to 45 years old. Only the formality of the signing of the measure by the presiding officers of the senate and house remains and it was predicted tonight that the measure will be in President Wilson's hands soon after the noon convening hour. Its immediate approval by the executive is expected.

The conference report on the bill, approved yesterday by the house, was adopted late today by the senate by a yea-and-nay vote —with but feeble opposition of few senators present.

Senate debate on the work or fight amendment's excision was so protracted that the house adjourned before the bill could be returned there for the signature of the speaker. The rules require that signatures of the presiding officers be attached to the engrossed measure while the houses are in session.

Senate debate today centered on the elimination of the work or fight amendment by the conferees. Senator Thomas of Colorado, author of the amendment and McCumber of North Dakota, vehemently protested against the striking out of the provision, which has been fought by organized labor.

Chairman Chamberlain of the senate conference committee defended the action of the committee in yielding to house opposition declaring that the present law and regulations could, if enforced, meet the end designed by the Thomas amendment. Alleged failure of the war department to enforce the law against union strikers was due to executive administration and not to lack of fiat from congress, Senator Chamberlain said.

Criticism of published plans of the war department for free technical and special education of drafted youths under 21 was expressed by several senators, denouncing the action of the war department in taking over schools and colleges as socialistic.

PEORIA MAN HEADS BAR ASSOCIATION

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—George T. Page, of Peoria, Ill., was elected president of the American Bar association for the coming year at the final business meeting of the annual convention today. Secretary George Whitlock of Baltimore and Treasurer Frederick E. Wadhams of Albany, N. Y., were re-elected. Next year's convention city will be selected by the executive committee at the mid-winter meeting.

GERMAN MUTINEERS JOIN ARMED PEASANTS

Attack German Forces in the Region of Dymera—Fierce Fighting Has Taken Place With Heavy Losses on Both Sides.

(By the Associated Press)

London, Aug. 30.—Twelve hundred German mutineers have joined forces with an armed peasant body and attacked the German forces in the region of Dymera, twenty four miles from Kiev, according to a Russian wireless despatch received here today from Moscow. Fierce fighting has taken place between the Germans and the peasants and there have been heavy loses on both sides.

The despatch follows:

"A resolute struggle is going on against the White Guards. The organizer of the recntly discovered conspiracy at Moscow, named Marpulias has been shot. Near the Church of Christ the Saviour a number of white guards were captured during the night. The author, Peschenchnoff, (formerly editor of a newspaper at Petrograd) has been set free at Moscow.

The district and town of Dymera, 24 miles from Kiev has been declared by the German army commander to be in a state of siege. All persons were forbidden to be in the streets after 7 p. m. and all movements to and from the town were prohibited.

"Nevertheless the peasants succeeded in concentrating forces around the town and the commander asked for reinforcements from Kiev. After two hours an airplane appeared over the town and announced that two steamers with soldiers and guns had been despatched against the peasant forces. Soldiers arrived with machine guns and occupied all routes to the town. A fine was imposed on the town.

"Mutineers numbering about 1200 men with ten machine guns and several other guns joined the peasants and fierce fighting took place between these forces and the Germans. There were many losses on both sides.

"The population of Kiev is starving."

MINES MUST NOT DECREASE PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Coal miners and operators were called upon by Fuel Administrator Garfield in a statement tonight to make sure that the Labor Day celebration Monday does not seriously decrease production of coal. The statement addressed to all persons engaged in coal mining says:

"It is urged and expected that coal production for the week beginning Sept. 1st, will be a demonstration of the true mettle of America's coal miners and operators.

"The more coal we produce the fewer lives will be sacrificed in battle. With shells to waste lives can be saved."

ROME, Aug. 30.—The official communication issued by the war office today says:

"A British detachment penetrated the enemy lines south of Asiago, inflicted considerable losses and took a few prisoners. Two hostile airplanes have been brought down."

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30.—A German supplementary army report issued in Berlin last night says:

"The end of the eighth day of the great battle on the western front did not bring at one point for the British a success worth mentioning despite their mass attacks.

"As the result of the peculiar nature of the fighting the British never know whether the Germans intend to acept their attacks or abandon practically worthless terrain without fighting."

After reiterating the insinuation that Australian troops are bearing the brunt of the fighting in this "for us unimportant desert" and declaring that the French attacking to the north of the river Aisne on August 28, with the aid of the Americans had as little success as had the British, the statement assures the German people that the defense is daily getting reater mastery over the tanks and that the German infantry and anti-aircraft automobiles have visibly perfected themselves for the disposal of new enemy fighting means.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—"East and northeast of Bapaume our operations are proceeding satisfactorily in spite of increasedh ostile resistance," says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig's headquarters in France tonight.

"Hard fighting occurred on the greater part of this front and a number of heavy counter-attacks were made by the enemy."

The statement continues :

"Our troops entered Reinccurtles-Bapaume and Bancourt, where they have been actively engaged with the enemy thruout the day. They captured Fremincourt and Vaulx-Vracourt, taking a number of prisoners and have reached the western outskirts of Baugny.

"At Ecoust-st Mein the enemy is still maintaining an obstinate defense closely pressed by our troops who have taken a number of prisoners in this locality.

"At Bullecourt and Hendecourt hostile counter-attacks, delivered with much determination by strong forces compelled our troops to fall back to the western outskirts of these villages and to a German trench system between them, where the enemy's attacks were stopped by our fire. North of these villages an attack launched this morning by Canadian troops astride the Arras-Cambrai road has been successful.

"The enemy defenses between Hendecourt and Haucourt have been captured, together with he latter village and several hundred prisoners. South of Bapaume our troops have maintained vigorous pressure upon the enemy and have gained ground.

"We have made progress east and northeast of Clery and in this sector have taken 300 prisoners. In the Lys sector the enemy is continuing his withdrawal, closely followed by our troops. Bailleul is again is our possession."

CHANGE TIME FOR WEARING SERVICE CHEVRON

With The American Army In France, Aug. 30.—(By The Associated Press.)—General Pershing has been informed by the war department that the computation of time for the wearing of service chevrons by American troops will be reckoned from the time of their arrival in an English, French, or other European port and not from the time of departure from the United States as has been the case.

Chavigny and Cuffies Falls After A Stiff Battle

(By the Associated Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 30—North of Soissons, where the Americans are fighting with the French, the villages of Chavigny and Cuffies have been captured, and the allied line advanced to the west of Crouy, according to the official communication issued tonight. Northwest of Noyon the Canal du Nord has been crossed by the French at Catigny and Beaurains.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 30.—Night—(By the Associated Press)—The French and Americans under orders by General Mangin, advanced today on the plateau north of Soissons to the western edge of Crouy, taking Cuffies and Chavigny, after very hard fighting.

Further north, between the Ailette and the road from Coucy to Chauny, the struggle was equally severe. The French occupied Champs, the Daast Wood, Praast and Villette.

General Mangin now has gained a strong foothold on the north bank of the Aislette and the plateau north of Soissons, occupying positions of great interest, with a view to further operations.

Germans Falling Back.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 30.—(By the A. P.) —Evening—This evening there remains to the Germans no other position to fall back upon west of the Hindenburg line than a line running from Ham to Barlancourt. The third army, continuing its progress of early morning in the region of Noyon, has occupied Mont St. Simeon, while the Canal du Nord was crossed at Chevilly. The loss of Mont St. Simeon means the loss to the Germans of the main defense point of the salient extending from the canal to the Aisne, while the French crossing of the Canal du Nord obliges the retreating forces to quicken their flight or suffer greater losses. The violent reaction effected north of Soissons by picked German divisions apparently was intended not only to check the advance of the allied troops over the plateau towards Chemin des Dames, but to force Marshal Foch to detach troops from other operations and ease the trying situation of the retreating German forces. Today's developments prove that the latter object is no more likely to be attained than the other one. The French pressure goes on with continued success and even the Hindenburg line, the supreme reliance of the Germans, appears this evening far less than a safe refuge.

ENEMY SUB ATTACKS TUG ON ATLANTIC COAST

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 30. —The crew of the Tug Triton which reached here today, reported having been fired upon by an enemy submarine in a fog off Boone Island.

The crown prince does not claim the glory of recent masterly retreats accomplished by the Huns.

An ordnance base is now being constructed in France which will require over 16,000 men. To back up the fighting lines closely is the wise policy.

The kaiser will get little consolation from the passage of the man-power bill. It will show him we have not only the moneyy but the men and the will to use both.

The secretary of the navy, by general order, has wiped out differences in the uniform used by the regular navy and naval reservists, except for distinguishing corps devices.

The Germans are gaining each day a few more trained assistants to "expert retreat". General Boehm. The Allies are giving them little time, however, for study.

The tide of battle has set against the Boches, their offensive has changed to defensive and confusion may soon reign as their morale decreases.

Bernard M. Baruth, chairman of the war industries board, has announced creation of a new division of the board—the facilities division—whose task will be to speed up war production thrucut the country and supply esential needs of the civilian population thru creation of new facilities.

The allied advance in the past weeks has been steady and, it is claimed at a comparatively light cost of men. Had General Foch been willing to have sacrificed men, as has the kaiser, the advance might have been greater, but the sure manner in which the Hun is being forced to retreat, accomplishes more in destroying their morale than would one great battle.

NOT TO ASK THE REASON WHY.

The fuel administration has made a formal request regarding the use of gasoline on Sunday. The request is a plain one, not ambiguous. We may not understand or approve the reason for the request, but it is the duty of every owner of an automobile to observe the letter of the regulation. The use of next Sunday will not be approved by public opinion. Read the following

Discontinuation of Sunday driving is a request not to be enforced except by the conscience and patriotism of individuals failure of general observance will make mandatory regulation imperative.

REGULATING NEWSPAPERS.

The New York world says regarding regulations of the use of printing paper

"The newspapers of the country have no legitimate ground for complaint against the restrictions as to the size which the government has imposed. The regulations work no hardships to the newspapers and need work none to the readers. In order to protect the press of the country and enable it to perform it public functions, the Priorities Board of the War Industries Board has listed paper mills as an essential industry and rated them in the fourth class for priority on coal. In return the Government is undertaking by various expedients to prevent the waste of print paper, and some of these rules relate to size. These regulations were all suggested by a committee of publishers the chairman of which was Victor F. Lawson. The problem was turned over to the committee and the Government accepted the solution."

Like many other regulations accepted by newspapers, the latest has been cheerfully received and cards pledging compliance signed.

THE "DIRTY HUNS."

An Indiana boy who was too young to enlist when the United States declared war against Germany, ran away from home, misrepresented his age and got into the army. He was wounded in action and his parents, who came from Germany, recently received a letter from him in which he wrote: "The dirty Huns, how I hate them! I have already got some of them and when I go back to the lines I will get some more." The Indianapolis News in commenting on this, says:

"There is no question of the effect this letter has on the folks at home. They realize now that what they formerly venerated in the fatherland was a tradition and not an actuality. Thruout this country today there are boys similar to this young Hoosier. A short time ago they looked upon Germany thru the eyes of their fathers and their grondfathers. They thought that they knew and loved a country that had been held up to them as a model. Now they speak of those people as "dirty Huns," and tell of their hatred for the race with which they once proudly claimed kinship. This is an example of what Germany has lost—not only the admiration and respect of the people who used to be almost her people, but in affection similar to family ties. This is somethng that Germany can not get back, no matter show much she gives up when peace comes."

ANOTHER REASON FOR IMPROVING WATER SUPPLY.

It has just been called to the attention of the Journal that in case of the prevalence of any communicable disease such as we are now having of typhoid fever it is made the duty of the State Department of Public Health to at once notify all the military camps and forts in which there may be residents of Morgan County or to which the Local Board may be sending men, of the prevalence of such disease. We understand that as soon as the State Inspector who visited Jacksonville made his report Director Drake of the Department of Public Health immediately notified all camps and forts of the conditions here. This is done to prevent men being given furloughs to places where they may contract a communicable disease and also to give such camps an opportunity to exercise special precautions with such men. In other words, some of our boys who would otherwise be given a chance to make a visit home will be denied the very great privilege of a visit home—perhaps the final visit before going overseas. If the army with all its facilities for protecting men by vaccination and treating them when sick considers this typhoid fever question one of such vast importance to the welfare of the army, is it not a fair question for this community to hasten the final steps for providing our city with an abundant supply of pure filtered water.

September Coming.

September, genial mild and calm, is coming, like a soothing balm. Perhaps, regardless of the cost she'll bring along an early frost and that will swat more kinds of flies than man can swat, howe'er he tries. But if she doesn't bring that boon she'll soothe our spirits pretty soon; she'll heal, with breezes cool and sweet, our chiggers wounds and prickly heat September comes, so don't de-spond, but save the coin to buy a bond; the fourth big war loan will appear before October's dawn is here and in the crisp September air we surely ought to do our share. For then we're full of pep and snap, and fit for frolic or for scrap, and we can hustle up the mon, and look upon the stunts as fun. The summer is a long ordeal: like false alarms all people feel; they're wilted and they're all run down; ah, then it's hard to chase thru town to rustle scads for any cause however good it is or was. But in September, when the breeze puts ginger in our spines and knees, and makes us feel like yearling colts, exertion brings no jars and jolts. And we can dig up many bones, and welcome Uncle Sam his loans, and start the autumn feeling right, our consciences all shining bright.

ICELAND TO BECOME INDEPENDENT STATE

Under Agreement Between That Country and Denmark Recently Made Public at Stockholm, Iceland Will Become Soverign State December 1.

Stockholm, Aug. — Iceland would become an independent sovereign state on December 1, next, under an agreement between that country and Dnmark made public here. Heretofore Iceland has ben a dependency of the Danish crown but the island had its own constiiution and legislature. The head of the Icelandic administration has been a minister appointed by the King of Denmark.

The new agreement which is intended to become effective December 1, provides that Denmark shall acknowledge Iceland as a soverign state but it stipulates also that the two countries shall continue to be "bound together by common ties of kingship" indicating that King Christian X, of Denmark, will continue to be King also of Iceland.

The Icelandic parliament had demanded a separate flag but this is not included in the agreement. Denmark agrees to notify the powers that Iceland is neutral in the war.

Denmark is to establish a fund of about $500,000 to develop intellectual relations between the two countries and to encourage exploration and scientific work in Iceland. The fund is to be divided between the Copenhagen and Reykjavik Universities and is to be administrated by the King with the after consultations with the governments of the two countries and with both universities.

It is provided that the provisions of the new agreement may be re[illegible] at the request of either country after the year 1940. Whether the agreement has been notified by the Danish and Icelandic parliaments is not announced here.

OFFICERS COMMENSD AMERICAN SOLDIERS

With the American Army in France, Aug. — On the headquarters bulletin board of a certain Allied army division, there recently appeared a notice over its commander's signature that has greatly pleased American officers. It calls attention to the punctilliousness and smartness of the American soldiers in saluting not only their own officers but those of all the Allied armies and then directs its own officers to see that their men do the same.

The United States Government is in need of women chemists.

COMMITTEE DISCUSSED WATER SUPPLY PROBLEM

Chicago Engineer Here for Conference—Several Methods of Financing Land Purchase Considered.

W. D. McClenahan, representing the Pearse and Greely Engineering firm of Chicago, was in Jacksonville yesterday for a conference with the joint committee on water supply. Mr. McClenahan brought with him the plans and specifcations for the proposed reservoir and filtration plant to be built at the south side pumping station site. The conference was partially for the purpose of going over the specifications and making any changes that the committee might suggest. Mayor Rodgers presided and all members of the committee were present except Dr. J. R. Harker who is in Colorado.

Financial Problems.

There are various problems for settlement with reference to the best method of financing the water improvements. It was known when the bond issue of $75,000 was authorized that this sum would not be sufficient for the building of the reservoir and the purchase of all lands which would be inundated by the stored water. It was deemed possible that leases might be made with the property owners which would make it possible for the city to secure all the land on a rental basis. If this could be accomplished it would be possible to proceed at once with the building of the reservoir. However, it soon developed that the greater number of property owners were not willing to lease their land, altho all but three have consented to options which will permit the city to buy their land at prices ranging from $225 to $250 per acre.

It is said further that the three property owners who have not signed such options are now talking quite favorably about the proposition.

Methods of Procedure.

City Attorney John J. Reeve, who attended the committee conference yesterday, spoke at some length in explanation of the possible methods of procedure. There has been one suggestion of issuance of water certificates for the purpose of purchasing the needed land, and a division of the returns from the water plant, a part for the payment of the bonds and a part for the payment of the water certificates. Then another plan has been suggested identical with that by which the city of Springfield acquired its municipal lighting plant. Because Springfield was bonded to the legal limit which is 5 per cent of the assessed valuation, it was not possible to build the lighting plant so a group of citizens got together and signed an agreement to be responsible for the money needed for the erection of the plant. The city entered into a contract for the payment of all the excess over running expenses and taxes on the amount invested. A further agreement was that as soon as these payments equaled the amount invested that the group of citizens would immediately turn over the property to the city.

Special Committee Named.

As a matter of fact the Springfield banks furnished the money but the citizens referred to served as the security for the money used. In the course of five or six years the entire obligations was discharged. There are somewhat differing views on the feasibility of water certificates as applying to the local situation and it was the suggestion of Mr. Reeve that the opinion of some firm like Wood and Oakley of Chicago, specializing on bond and water certificates issues, might be secured. Dr. Black referred to recent conversation with a representative of the Springfield bond firm of Matheny, Dixon and Co, and Mr. Reeve said that a Springfield law firm of which Logan Hay and Robert Creighton are members served as conusel for the bond firm mentioned.

Other financial matters were discussed and it was then determined by the committee that Mayor Rodgers, City Attorney Reeve and T. A. Chapin should be appointed a special committee for conference with local bankers, with the Springfield bond firm and attorneys and if advisable with the Wood and Oakley firm of Chicago.

NAMED CHAPLAIN IN U. S. ARMY

Rev. George C. Lenington Will Enter This Work—Special Qualifications Makes Overseas Service Probable

Jacksonville friends of Rev. George C. Lenington will be interested in knowing that he has recently been appointed a chaplain in the U. S. army. At the time of his application he made the request to be sent abroad for service at the front but of course at this date does not know whether he will be assigned to duty abroad or in some army cantonmen in this country. However, in view of Mr. Lenington's familiarity with the Spansh language it is more than likely that he will be sent overseas for work among the Porto Rican troops. Had he not been accepted for the army service he would have been sent overseas by the Y. M. C. A. committee to take a secretaryship among the Portuguese troops in France or at one of the huts which are soon to be built for the Italian army.

Rev. Mr. Lenington is especially well fiitted for the work in which he is to engage as he has broad sympathy with young men and in his church work has devoted special thought to religious effort among youuf people. He has just closed a fifteen months' term of service in Mexico and has had experience in South America, and by education and in spirit is qualified in a marked degree for the work he is now to undertake.

INSTRUCTION BOARD NAMED FOR WORK HERE

Purpose is To Bring Registrants Into Better Knowledge of Military Duty and Responsibilities Resting On Them.

The local selective service board of Morgan county has appointed a board of instruction by direction of Provost Marshal General Crowder. The duties of this board will be along the same lines that have been pursued by the local board, in the instruction of men who are to enter the army service. Hugh Green, the adjutant of the board, has been designated as captain or chairman of the board and Dr. Carl E. Black, the medical member of the board, has been selected for the same position in this board of instruction. Rev. M. L. Pontius has been selected as the ministerial member of the board.

Qualified Officers

Under the prospective registration the duties of this board will be large and important and of great service to the registrants. Mr. Green on account of his personal contact with the registrants is well qualified to take on these new duties. Dr. Black, from his experience along medical lines and general information can give a great deal of helpful medical advice to the men. Dr. Pontius will in fact act in the nature of chaplain of the local board by this appointment.

A drill master will be selected by the board of instruction to give the men military training so that they will be somewhat hardened to service when they reach the camps.

Some further idea of the scope of the work proposed can be had from the following paragraphs taken from the government's pamphlet in which the organization of the board is outlined:

Plan Outlined

"1. The general plan of operation will be to use local boards of instruction, to be appointed by the local selective-service board. As the final result is to depend upon personal sympathetic contact with selectives, the members will be individually selected with reference to their local repute and standing; their character and human experience; ardor to help win the war; willingness to serve without compensation or exploitation; appreciation of the possibilities of the plan; intelligent conception of the kind of soldiers the nation needs; ability to analyze young men's difficulties and to inspire in them a patriotic desire to serve.

"Every community in the county has such exceptional men who are eager to devote themselves to some patriotic work which is worth while. The local board, through its extensive relationships will discover these men, personally enlist their spirit and conviction and command their cooperation. Men who have sons in the service find a particular inducement to engage in this work.

"This is not the difficult task that it appears, for comparatively few men are required in any given community. These men will be brought together, and after complete explanation of the method will be installed to work the plan. The chairman should have the responsibility of making assignments to duty, and of keeping oversight of details.

Uniform Work

"2. Wherever one or more existing agencies has already undertaken some part of this work, sanction should be given by the local board, if it approves the kind of work and the personnel in charge. No doubt many offers of service will be received. These should be fully and cordially availed of so far as feasible, preference being given to those who have already demonstrated by successful experience their capacity to perform the task. The work already organized and under way in many communities under direction of the state councils of defense should here receive as ample recognition as possible. But it will rest with the local board to organize the personnel of the board of instruction in such manner as to insure conformity to the purposes and methods here outlined, and to emphasize rigorously the main object of preparing the men to be better soldiers when the time comes for their call to the colors."

The local board has received orders for the entrainment of limited service men who are to leave for Camp Grant Tuesday, Sept. 3. They will leave on the morning Wabash train.

LIBERATI IN FINE CONCERT PROGRAMS

BIG MUSICAL FEATURES AT CHAUTAUQUA

Well Known Musical Organization Delighted Audiences — Flying Demonstration An Added Chautauqua Attraction—Rains Lessened Attendance.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 31.

Morning.

10:00 Lecture—Selecting Layers. J. P. Gilbert.

11:00 Lecture—Planning Meals. Mrs. Alice Sherfy Houston.

Afternoon.

2:15 Grand Concert. Metropolitan Grand Quartet. Lecture. Arthur Walwyn Evans.

4:00 G. A. R. Reunion Program.

Evening.

7:45 Concert. The Metropolitan Grand Quartet. Magic and Music. The Dietrics.

Two concert programs by the Liberati Band and Operatic Co., together with other attractions made Friday a notable day at the Chautauqua, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather. Unfortunately the management was not notified until Friday morning of the coming of the aeroplane from Scott field at Belleville or that splendid feature would have been announced. As it was the Chautauqua patrons vastly enjoyed the exhibition of flying and the people in the business and residence districts of the city also had the benefit of the flight spectacle.

Mrs. Houston gave an interesting morning talk and in the afternoon W. G. Eckhardt and Sidney B. Smith were heard in addresses concerning crop improvement work which discussed matters of very great interest to the farming community. The evening program by the Liberati organization was of musical excellence quite in line with the previous appearance of this organization.

Morning Program.

Truly our friend, J. Pluvius, has been against the chautauqua and favorable to agriculture which is of course the more important but still, with such a rare and valuable program and so expensive withal it was hard to have the rain so interfere with the enterprise.

Yesterday morning some people gathered but the rain put quietus on Prof. Gilbert's part of the program and as the subject of laying hens is so important it will have the right of way this morning. Mrs. Houston gave her usual interesting and instructive talk to a large number of ladies. Her subject being "Left overs." If the things this worthy lady has told and will tell could be put into practice lots of good things to eat would be provided at a reasonable outlay of labor and money and would also serve war purposes too.

In general the large tent acted very well and is strong and tight. The small tents too did quite well. Occasionaly some of them leaked but inquiry generally disclosed a satisfactory condition of affairs.

The Afternoon.

At the afternoon session William G. Eckhardt, farm adviser for DeKalb county, was the first speaker. DeKalb county was the first Illinois county to organize a crop improvement association and employ an adviser. The work there has been developing since 1912 and the crop improvement association has taken on some extensive activities. In addition to the ordinary work of the farm adviser the association there buys in a co-operative way the seed and other necessary things for the farms of members. Mr. Eckhardt mentioned that now agents of the association are in Idaho intending to purchase there clover seed which will be needed on the farms of DeKalb county. The asssociation has in storage about 19,000 bushels of spring wheat for seed purposes next year. Other activities are on the same large scale and Mr. Eckhardt has an assistant and two stenographers.

Co-operative Farm Work.

The work of the DeKalb association is often pointed out as representing the advance stages of what can be accomplished in county agent work thru co-operative effort. The association not only buys seed and fertilizers for the farms but also assists in the purchase of livestock. The activities also extend to the marketing of the grain and altogether a fine example of co-operative effort is shown. Sidney B. Smith was the next speaker and he also discussed county agent work. Mr. Smith who is a Sangamon county farmer, will be remembered as the representative of the department of agriculture who came into Morgan county last fall to aid in the work of organizing the Morgan county crop improvement association which is known here as the farmers club. Mr. Smith recalled his pleasant experiences here and told something of the growth of the county agent work thruout the state. It will be remembered that the federal government has especially encouraged the formation of crop improvement associations at this time because of the demands for increase in production on farms. Mr. Smith told something of what has been accomplished this past year thru the county agent movement and declared that farmers certainly have every reason to be proud of their state and nation.

At the conclusion of these talks the Liberati band was heard in another concert program. A very large afternoon audience had assembled and the program was one of unusual musical excellence. However, after a few numbers had been given the oncoming storm caused a scattering of the audience and it was necessary to cut short the program.

Evening Program.

Again at night the threatening weather interfered to some extent with the attendance. However, Liberati and his band presented another splendid musical program which the audience thoroly enojyed. The four concerts given by this organization in connection with the Chautauqua program right thoroly convinced Morgan county people that the Liberati organization thoroly deserves the wide reputation it has. The band and company includes forty six people and each one is a musician of finished excellence. The organization ranks as one of the very first in the whole United States, and while they constitute an expensive Chautauqua attraction, the people have agreed that the money was well expended.

LITERBERRY MAN HANDY WITH HAMMER

J. S Hitchins Uses It Effectively But Not for Knockin5 — Is Blacksmith and An Expert in Sharpening Plow Shares—Other Literberry News.

Literberry, Aug. 30.—That new barn on the Frank Hopkins place, turned out to be a new front porch to their dwelling house.

Our efficient blacksmith, J. S. Hitchens, has been doing his bit with his hammer during the recent hot weather, having as high as sixty-one plow shares to be sharpened in one day, and has averaged during the month of August thirty-five shares a day. This, with his other work, makes Mr. Hitchens a very busy man.

Judge W. E. Thomson and son, W. H. Weatherford and W. A. Masters visited friends here the first of the week.

Landis Young spent a few days at Arnold with the family of Ed. Young.

Mrs. J. M. Gibson, of Jerseyville, is a guest at Harmony Cottage. Mrs. Gibson is a sister of Mr. Scribner.

Mrs. Laird, of Walnut Brook, tenant house, is reported sick.

S. H. Crum, who has been ailing for some time, is slowly getting better.

Some of our people have taken the typhoid vaccination.

James Robert Beavers visited at Sunshine cottage on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. George C. Lenington has returned to Jacksonville after spending the greater part of the summer at the home of her son, Drury Lenington, in New York City.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.—Adv.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It

When you use medicated sprays atomizers and douches for your catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store today, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century.

S. S. S. gets right at the source of catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

BUSINESS IN STOCK MARKET DULL

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Anticipating the approaching holiday today's stock market lapsed into its recent dullness.

United States steel and Canadian Pacific, both selling ex dividend returned early declines of 1 to 1½ points but these were largely regained in gradual recovery of the final hour. The most interesting devlopment of the session in its significant relation to the encouraging war news was another advance in French exchange to the highest level for three years.

The ruling of the interstate commerce commission classifying wire transmission companies as "common cariers" was without effect on shares of that class beyond the moderate strength of American telephone. Sales of stocks 225,000 shares. Liberty Bonds, including 3½s were reactionary, but most foreign issues were slightly higher. Total sales (par value) $8,525,000.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"With attention focused on the war with the government insisting upon getting larger supplies of essentials and with the drought stricken sections of the southwest complaining, sentiment tends to become more conservative. Considerable business is offering consumption requirements being heavy, but supplies are light and all round activity would reign were it not for imperative needs of war. Merchants having goods to sell select their customers while others less favorably circumstanced find that restrictions were one kind or another crimp operations and small dealers experience difficulty in carrying sizeable stocks, this situation being due to high prices and inability to procure full credit facilities. Weekly bank clearings $6,136,581,000."

Great Britain is establishing on her coasts radio light houses, equipped with combination wireless and phonographic instruments. These light houses are particularly valuable in thick weather, when the light is frequently invisible. The name of the light house is repeated automatically by wireless every five seconds, the intensity of the sounds being so regulated that ships equipped with an ordinary wireless receiving apparatus will hear the signal the same approximate distance that the light could be seen in clear weather.

FRANCIS G. BLAIR
Republican Candidate for Superintendent Public Instruction
Primary, Sept. 11, 1918

Mr. Blair's National Prominence.

From "The Journal of Education" Boston, Mass., April 17, 1917.

Report of the National Department of Superintendence held in Kansas City, Missouri.

Hon. Francis G. Blair, State Superintendent of Illinois, at the Council of Education meeting on Monday evening made one of the most effective speeches on Legislation versus Administration that we have heard in any convention in many a day.

"It was an epoch in the educational life of Illinois when Francis G. Blair became State Superintendent. He has accomplished simply marvelous results by way of starting things and awakening the kind of zeal that abides."

EDITORIAL OPINIONS OF THE ILLINOIS DAILY PRESS
Superintendent Blair

(Editorial from The Chicago Tribune, October 17, 1914.)

As superintendent of Public Instruction in Illinois, this official is constantly required to deal with problems involving the important education and social relations, and must be able to present to the people the ideals of public education which are set by the statutes and traditions of the state, and at the same time to harmonize all these matters with the feelings, beliefs and preferences of individuals, groups and classes of many sorts. For such responsibility Mr. Blair is well fitted by education and experience. His insight into the educational and legal principles involved in the administration of his office, and the fairness of his application of those principles to each concrete problem of school administration, should secure for him support in all parties and insure his re-election."

Opinion of Union Labor

(From "The Illinois Tradesman")

Professor Blair has kept the office free of political juggling and has given the people of the State of Illinois a splendid administration. This state is justly famous for its educational institutions, both public and private, and no state in the union ranks any higher.

(From "Republican - Register," Galesburg, Ill., Friday, October 30, 1914)

It is the common opinion of educators throughout the state that State Superintendent Blair should be re-elected. He has administered the affairs of the schools of the state with so much discretion and wisdom that with his large experience he should be retained where he is.

(From the Springfield, Ill., "Journal", Tuesday, Oct. 6, 1914)

Mr. Blair is a credit to the great school system of Illinois, in the building up of which he has been most industrious. Active, devoted to his profession and possessed with an enthusiasm which he imparts to everyone connected with the school work, he makes an ideal leader. He is also a good executive officer and his office has been admirably conducted from a business as well as from an educational standpoint.

(Editorial from Kewanee Daily Star-Courier, July 31, 1918)

It is not often that a candidate for a state office can attract such general and sincere support as that which is given Francis G. Blair for whom petitions have been filed for superintendent of public instruction.

The reason for this support, however, is plain. Mr. Blair has seen to it that his office has been administered from the standpoint of a practical school man, instead of that of a politician. He has brought the principles of fair play into all the problems of his office and the people have not been slow to appreciate what this has meant.

OPINIONS FROM STATE SCHOOL JOURNALS
Francis G. Blair Appreciated

(From "School and Home Education," Bloomington, Ill., 1914)

The things accomplished and policies initiated by Superintendent Blair during the past four years show his ability and his earnest and untiring purpose to base his leadership on thorough knowledge and careful judgements * *

But the most efficient work of Superintendent Blair is done thru his power to present the cause of education so adequately and effectively as he does directly to the people in public addresses.

(From the "School News", Taylorville, Ill., 1914)

Mr. Blair has shown special interest in the elementary schools, the schools of the massès, and has done much for their improvement, as our readers know. The clerical affairs of his office have been carefully and promptly administered. He is well liked by school officers, superintendents and teachers throughout the state. In brief, he has "made good" all along the line, and his party has done the right thing in renominating him, without opposition for another term of service.

Mr. Blair's Brief Statement

All my interests and ambitions lie within the field of education. If nominated and re-elected my attention and effort will continue to be directed towards securing better school conditions and opportunities for the children of the state.

Anything you may see fit to do or say in my behalf will be appreciated by me.

Official Scorer Chosen.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Members of the Baseball Writers' association today by unanimous vote elected Malcolm McLean, baseball writer for the Chicago Evening Post, official scorer to represent this city in the world's series game.

As a move against Germany, the British parliament has passed a law forbidding the import of dyes for ten years after the war. At the beginning of the war Germany controlled the dyes of the whole world. But in four years the dye making industry has been successfully developed both in America and England, so that never again will the world have to depend upon Germany for its coal tar colors.

The longest continuous fence in the world is that which stretches across the Australian continent, from the south coast of Starvation Boat Harbor to the north coast at Banningarra, a distance of over twelve hundred miles. This wonderful fence, of woven wire netting, is designed to stop the inroads of rabbits from the eastern desert and semi-desert regions into the more westerly agricultural districts, which are yet comparatively free from the pest.

LIEUT. M'GINNIS DOES AIR STUNTS FOR NATIVES

Local Boy Makes Exhibition Flight Over City—Says Stunts He Did Are Ones Every Man is Taught in Air Service.

Thousands of citizens of the city and county witnessed an exhibiton flight over the city by Lieutenant Harold A. McGinnis Friday afternoon. Lieutenant McGinnis did a number of spectacular stunts, including the noted tail spin. The machine in which the exhibition was made came from Scott Field, thru the efforts of Frank J. Heinl as a Chautauqua attraction.

Speaking of the flight last night Lieut. McGinnis said that the tail spin while a spectacular stunt is not considerd by fliers the most dangerous one.

In a tail spin the machine assumes a natural position when it starts to fall. This is accomplished by shutting off the engine. When the machine loses its forward motion the engine being in the front of the machine naturally the nose drops. The tail revolves around the axis of the machine. To come out of the spin the engine is thrown into neutral which brings the nose again to a horizonal position.

The flier was a Curtis plane No. 3133 with 100 horse power engine. It has a span of about 44 feet and a body 35 feet long. The rudder is painted red, white and blue.

The machine was in charge of 1st. Lieutenant Hoag, officer in charge of flying at Scott Field and Lieutenant Abney, in charge of all instructors and instruction at the field. The officers had sent a message to F. J. Heinl of the proposed trip but the message was delayed and had just been posted in the windows of the newspaper offices and banks when the machine arrived.

The fliers arrived about 11:30 and circled over the city and then made a landing in the pasture of W. E. Hall, southwest of the city in the vicinity of South Diamond street.

Lieutenant Hoag and Lieut. Abney are both veterans in the flying game and are known all over the country. They have been flying for about four years and are considered experts in flying.

Lieutenant McGinnis spoke highly of both of the men and said that it was a great courtesy on their part that he was privileged in showing his home people what he had learned in the flying game. Lieutenant McGinnis said that Lieutenant Abney graduated in a class of eight men four years ago. Today he is the only member of the class alive.

All of the stunts performed by Lieutenant McGinnis yesterday were done at an altitude of between 1,500 and 2,000 feet. It is not permissible to attempt any stunts and especially the tail spin at an altitude of less than 2,400 feet or higher.

FINAL VOTE ON PROHIBITION TODAY

Debate on Measure and Disposal of Manpower Bill Causes Delay in Passage of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Opposition to every appropriation considered wasteful and unnecessary, together with protracted debate on the conference report to the manpower bill, resulted in the failure of the senate today to pass the emergency agriculture appropriation bill with a provision attached providing for national prohibition June 1, 1919.

Prohibition leaders plan for a final vote tomorrow.

Discussion of minor appropriations in the $11,000,000 measure occupied most of the senate's time. An amendment authorizing the secretary of agriculture to set $2.500 000 for the purchase of seed wheat, to be sold to farmers, was adopted. The bill with the prohibition amendment, according to the plans of senate leaders, is to be passed finally by a viva voce vote, without placing cenators on record as to the prohibition proposition. Paraffin paper containers are being used in place of tin cans for condensed milk, preserved fruit and vegetables and in place of tin drinking cups. Untinned steel sheets are also being used extensively as a substitute.

"DRAG, DRAG — AND SUFFER

Was All I Did," Says Dallas Lady, Who Gives Cardui Credit for Her Being Well and Strong Today

Dallas, Texas—"It is hard to express the gratitude I feel for the medicine that saved my life," says Mrs. S. W. Bergen, of 2609 Lake Ave. "That is what Cardui did and I would like for others to know, as the few words I say may save a lot of suffering for some one. . . .

I suffered everything one can suffer and live. My back hurt, my head, my sides . . . a weak nervous hurting all over . . . Drag, drag and suffer, it was all I did. No rest and very little sleep or appetite.

I began to have spells . . . One night . . . I told my husband I would try Cardui. It had been recommended to me. I begun it and it did do me good. It saved my life, I verily believe.

I began to improve. I grew strong . . . I am a strong and well woman today. I can't say too much for Cardui. I praise Cardui and will praise it as long as I live.

When ever I feel the need of a tonic, I send and get a bottle of Cardui and it helps me, seems to be what I need."

Cardui may be what you need. Try Cardui. It's a mild, medicinal female tonic, that has helped many thousands of women in the past 40 years. It should help you. At all druggists.

PREFER GOVERNMENT TO OPERATE PLANT

Washington, Aug. 30.—The Smith & Wesson Company, of Springfield, Mass., informed the war department today that rather than abide by a recent decision of the war labor board, it would prefer to have its plant taken over by the government and operated for the period of the war.

In a letter to Secretary Baker the company said it had not submitted its rights to the war labor board, did not admit that the board had conducted the brief investigation which preceded its decision in accordance with President Wilson's labor proclamation and saw no reason why it should abandon its legitimate methods of doing business.

The company employed 1,400 persons and is engaged on many government contracts, including the making of a quarter of a million army revolvers. It offers, if the government will take over the plant, to have the individuals of the present management co-operate with any officer placed in charge.

TO ALL REPUBLICAN VOTERS IN COUNTY

As a candidate for county commissioner on the Republican ticket I feel it is my duty to make this statement. On the honor of a veteran of the Civil War and a life-long citizen of Jacksonville, I say that my petition for a place on the ballot was filed without my knowledge or solicitation and absolutely unknown to me until I saw it in the Jacksonville Daily Courier. The first duty of a soldier is to obey. Therefore I have accepted and am in the race to the finish and very naturally hope and expect to come under the wire several long laps to the good.

My slogan is "I went over the top for you; won't you do that much for me?" Since the days of the Civil War the Republican party has, other things being equal, given preference to those who bore the heat and burden of war in the past and will perhaps continue to do so in the future. In the present case I did not seek the office and really do not need the office as badly as the office needs me at this time for reasons that will be explained later.

My platform is a square deal for all men and all women, regardless of color, race, creed or previous condition of servitude, under the flag for which I gave the best four years of my life to keep in the sky and float for all time over the best government ever conceived by man. I am today, as I always have been since I arrived at the age of accountability, one hundred per cent American and made good this boast when I answered the call of the Great Emancipator in the days that tried men's souls. My confidence in the people of old Morgan has never been shaken and am willing to stand by the decision of the sovereign voter who may or may not be willing to put me over the top now as I went over the top for them when going was decidedly unpleasant, meaning the barriers we mounted at Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge, Buzzard Roost and Kenesaw and many other places where it took considerable nerve and manhood to face. So far among my supporters are prominent citizens of many professions and scores of just common citizens without professions who have come to me and promised me their support.

If nominated and elected I promise here and now that it will never become necessary to call an indignation meeting to compel me to obey the will of the people to carry out their will as expressed at the polls. My appeal is to that element who believe in a square deal between men without the persuasive eloquence of the Almighty Dollar! And to this class of voters all over Morgan county I submit my case and ask them to think it over carefully, prayerfully and patriotically.

Respectfully submitted,
J. M. SWALES.

DR. MADDEN RETURNS FROM THE EAST

Grace Church Pastor Will Occupy Pulpit Sunday after Vacation Trip.

Rev. F. B. Madden, pastor of Grace M. E. church, returned Friday from a vacation visit of a month in the east. He visited various points of interest in the New England states and spent some time in New York City. For two Sundays he occupied the pulpit of the church at Lynn, Mass., of which Dr. Elmer Leslie is pastor. In the congregation on that occasion were nearly 200 men of the Radio school at Harvard university. Zion's Herald, published at Boston, Mass., in a recent issue said:

"Rev. Dr. Frederic B. Madden, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Jacksonville, Ill., who as been spending his vacation in New England, was one of our welcome callers during the past week. Dr. Madden, who is one of the leaders of the Illinois Conference, is supplying First Church, Lynn, and has made a splendid impression. He is taking advantage of his visit East to make an intimate study of Morgan Memorial."

Dr. Madden will preach at Grace church Sunday morning and will be glad to meet the membership of the church at this first post-vacation service.

AN OLD TIME HOUSE.

E. J. McDowd of the vicinity of Sinclair, a near neighbor to George Swain, says he is living in what he thinks is about the oldest frame house in the county. He says old people tell him that their parents told them it was called an old house in 1838, eighty years ago so Mr. McDowd thinks it must be right at a hundred years old tho it is a question if enough white people were about here so long ago to build such a house.

The house has four rooms below and three above. They are large but have low ceilings and small windows. The weather boarding is of walnut cut on the farm. It has been renewed by William (Tapper) Brown and is in fair condition but the sills are rotting away and it would cost more to repair and put the buildings in order than it is worth, so Mr. McDowd thinks and he expects to demolish it another year or perhaps this fall. Fireplaces abound both up stairs and down and in one cold day in winter would consume as much wood as would be needed to heat the place two weeks with Tod stoves. It is one of the old time and fast disappearing land marks of the county.

ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL IS DOING "BIT" IN WAR

Number of Workmen Now Totals 11,000—Inspiring Scene When They Took Oath to Do All in Their Power to Win the War.

A little paper called the Arsenal Record is published at the Rock Island arsenal and the last number, kindly loaned the Journal by Miss Lillian Rosenthal, sister of Mrs. J. Herman, contains lots of good things.

Mrs. Anthony O'Leary, an employee, has a service flag with ten stars on it. They are, one for her husband, four for her brothers, four for her husband's brothers and one for herself.

Wednesday afternoon 11,000 employees took the following oath "So long as the war shall last I'll stick to the job. I'll work six days a week and overtime if necessary. I'll do an honest day's work. I'll do anything else the president of the United States wants me to do, so help me God."

The oath was administered by Dr. Willis Moore, representative of the national service section of the U. S. Shipping Board. He had the 11,000 people to hear him and he made good use of the opportunity for twenty minutes. He is a wonderful speaker and holds the attention of his audience as do Billy Sunday and similar magnetic speakers. Here are some extracts from his address:

"We've got to win this war. After this war is over I don't care what you do.

"You men and women are just as important as the men at the front. Without your assistance here we cannot win. Are you going to give this assistance?" The 11,000 thundered back "Yes."

"I understand you have a wonderful ball club here. This war is the same as a ball game. We have Belgium on first; France on second; England on third, and Italy on short. In the field we have plenty of outfielders and Uncle Sam is pitching. There are two out and a man on third. Germany is batting. Do you think he'll make a hit?", and the crowd thundered, "No."

"Thats' right; now listen here. The kaiser of Germany has wanted to make a little hell here on earth for a long time. I believe when a person wants anything very badly he should get it. Shall we give it o him?" "Sure" answered the throng.

The meeting closed with two stanzas of "America."

They have at the arsenal a colored man, Milton Howard, who was kidnapped when five years of age and sold into slavery. At the same time his parents, a brother and sister, sustained the same fate. He was a soldier in the civil war, was wounded in the thight and head and injured by a gun carriage passing over him. He has been at work in the arsenal since the war.

At one time Gen. Flagler, commandant of the arsenal, was skating when he broke thru the ice. Milton managed to save the officer after the latter had been in the water 45 minutes, bringing him safely to shore.

There are about 400 women employed in the arsenal, half of them in the harness shop. There are on hand 2243 applications from women for shop work and 344 for office work.

BAND MASTER AND NAVY MAN TALKED

Signor Liberati and Lieut. Edward Alexander Heard With Interest By Rotary Club Members.

At the Rotary club luncheon, Friday, members had the pleasure of listening to informal talks by Alexander Liberati, director of the Liberati Band and Opera Co., and Lieut. Edward Alexander, of the U. S. navy. Signor Liberati talked in a very interesting way and confessed that while the organization of 46 of hich he is the head, is known as an Italian band, as a matter of fact there are not more than four or five Italians in the organization.

This justly renowned band leader referred to his long residence in this country, now extending thru a period of more than forty years, and said that while he had love in his heart for his native land of Italy, that he is in every sense an American. He declared that the reason he did not speak English more perfectly was because his associations thru the years had been largely among musicians most of whom were foreign born. As a matter of fact, Signor Liberati came to the United States in 1872. He was at the head of a band organization playing at the centennial in Philadelphia and later traveled all over the country with the Gilmore organization. Then he organized the band and concert company bearing his name and since that time he has been a resident of New York.

Served in Italian Army.

War is not new to Liberati, as he served several years in the Italian army and at one time in the French army, always connected with musical organizations. He said that he regretted that his age kept him from marching at the head of a regimental band, leading younger men on the field of battle. How conditions were changed since the band leader came to America was indicated by his statement that during the first year of his residence there were but 27,000 Italians in the country and now that number has grown to more than a million.

Lieut. Edward Alexander,, who is in the transport department of the navy, talked in a most interesting vein of the development of the navy since the war began. He did not give so much facts and statistics as incidents to indicate the rapid growth. The lieutenant also made it very clear that he recognized the fact that the committee on public information had been designated as the source for news or statements with reference to navy operations, and that a lieutenant was not expected to talk very extensively. Lieutenant Alexander is in the transport service and he outlined the thoro department organization on a transport, with the commanding officer in supreme charge, no matter what the rank of the military men who are being taken across. The highest purpose of the transport service is to convey men quickly, safely and comfortably to the other side.

Red Tape Not Retarding Navy.

The lieutenant made it plain from several instances that in these days the red tape of the navy is not allowed to stand in the way of efficiency or rapidity. When it seems to be necessary to cut out red tape, the operation is quickly performed. In Lieutenant Alexander's opinion, one reason that so little is said about navy development is the fact that the expansion has been accomplished with such smoothness. Before the war there were less than 100,000 men in the navy, and now there are more than 300,000.

The speaker referred to the fine spirit of the French people, as manifested by their military men. "It is the ability of the Frenchman to continue to smile," the speaker said, "which seems to annoy the Germans, and they do keep on smiling. I conversed with one officer who lost three brothers in the war. Another one with whom I talked carried himself with buoyant spirit, yet in conversation stated that he had parted from his wife and three children in 1914, and from that time forward had never known their whereabouts, yet this battle-scarred veteran marched at the head of his troops with undaunted spirit. One cannot but admire the British people. Trouble or suffering do not penetrate the British calm. It is true not only of the people of England, but of the empire as a whole, and they go on with an indomitable will. And as one is in touch with the marvelous force behind the navy, which insists upon bringing needed things to pass and with the belief that a like spirit is behind the military organization, it is easy to understand that something is going to happen later on and that victory will come to the allies."
